

Arc Pulpit

The new arc pulpit is 12% lighter. At 8.5kg for the larger 70cm version, this makes it lighter than most other church pulpits. Many stage managers will be able to carry it with one arm. This has helped to make it Australia's best selling modern church lectern. Other features have helped its popularity. For a start it is so minimal, that the congregation is able to concentrate fully on the speaker. Secondly, its brushed stainless steel and sleek lines make it stylish and modern looking. This has made it the choice for major churches in Australia, as well as churches from 25 to 18,000 people in Singapore, NZ, Canada, Korea, UK and the USA, Brunei, Japan, Germany, Holland, South America and Uganda. It is seen on TV in Australia's Hillsong and other well known churches. For TV or video filming, an anti reflective film can be factory applied to the perspex to eliminate glare. The wide top (70cm/ 28") is the most popular, however either size will fit easily into most cars.

Telescope Pulpit

In most cases, the 'Arc' pulpit is the preferred choice for churches. However, in some situations (for example in local government or where wheelchair users need to be catered for), the 'Telescope' is ideal. The minimalist approach avoids the use of a lever, and instead uses a small push button that allows the top to rise and fall. The button is set behind the reading area to avoid accidental operation. The stainless steel makes it aesthetically pleasing in a variety of interiors from contemporary to more traditional. It can be moved comfortably by one person.

Optic Pulpit

Many churches now require pulpits to be moved during the service. This has made the traditional box shape perspex pulpit impractical, since they are very heavy. Extensive development went into this pulpit in an effort to make it as fully featured, and yet as lightweight as possible. The pulpit features a silver powdercoated aluminium frame to make it as lightweight and yet strong. The silver legs, clear perspex pulpit panels, and architectural style shape make it suitable for both traditional and modern church settings.

The rear panel can be detached, have the name of the church or a symbol/ logo applied by your local sign shop, and then re-attached. A frosted finish could be applied as a privacy panel. The pulpits lower shelf is perfect for church resources, sermon props or water.
